

Germs, Germs, Germs everywhere!

Looking for a great way to educate yourself and your children on how to stay healthy this flu season? Visit your local Richland County Public Library now through February to experience EdVenture's FREE fun, interactive educational program called "Germs, Germs, Germs!" These programs teach children the value of important hygiene habits that will keep them healthy. Visit www.edventure.org for a full listing of programs. While you are at the library, be sure to check out these children's books:

Younger Readers

Germs! Germs! Germs! by Bobbi Katz
Germs Make Me Sick! by Melvin Berger
I Know How We Fight Germs by Kate Rowan
Keeping Clean by Sharon Gordon
Coughs and Colds by Jillian Powell
The Magic School Bus Inside Ralphie: A Book About Germs by Joanna Cole
Who's Sick Today? by Lynne Cherry
Teddy Bears Cure A Cold by Susanna Gretz
Wash, Scrub, Brush! by Mick Manning
Splish! Splosh! Why Do We Wash? by Janice Lobb

Older Readers

Germ Killers: Fighting Disease by Sally Morgan
Epidemic by Brian Ward
Johnny Germ Head by James Quigley
What Are Germs? By Alvin Silverstein
When Birds Get Flu and Cows Go Mad
by John DiConsiglio
Invisible Enemies: Stories of Infectious Disease
by Jeanette Farrell
Germ Hunter: A Story about Louis Pasteur
by Elaine Marie Alphin
Running Out of Time by Margaret Peterson Haddix
Blue by Joyce Moyer Hostetter
A Time of Angels by Karen Hesse, J Hesse