

EdVenture Children's Museum presents:

Kangaroo Crossing®

G'Day Mate!

Have a bit of a walkabout in EdVenture's Kangaroo Crossing and you'll see why it's a bonzer* of an exhibit. Kangaroo Crossing is the first in a series of global education exhibits offered by EdVenture to help children discover and learn about international cultures. At Kangaroo Crossing, kids can try to jump as far as a kangaroo, shop for Vegemite, "dive" into the Great Barrier Reef and listen in on a real school lesson as given in "the bush" via two-way radios. The traveling exhibit has already been hopping with excitement and overwhelming support from local Australians and South Carolina educators. The exhibition is great for children 12 years and younger. So make Kangaroo Crossing part of your museum, and you'll have people coming back like boomerangs.

Life-size termite mounds. Banana benders.
Winter is summer. Mysterious marsupials.
It's the dinky di. Good on ya.

Why Kangaroo Crossing?

Kangaroo Crossing's goal is to introduce young minds to new, unique cultures and global considerations they might not have a chance to experience. It's designed to provide an overview of children's lives in modern-day

Australia as well as teach about plants, animals, geography and every-day life such as going to school and shopping. Learning about other cultures from around the world leads to understanding and a regard for others.

It's an important lesson in learning that no matter where we're from, we're all people.

*Bonzer, meaning excellent or great.

Dinky di, meaning "the real deal."
